

UPDATE: ANDEROL® NEW CORPORATE DESIGN

We are writing to update you as a customer of Anderol® products. As of 2nd November 2020, Anderol® has rebranded to incorporate their parent company LANXESS into their branding. As part of this there will be some changes to the product packaging which will now have a new look.

Please note that this is purely a re-branding and there is no change to the products themselves – it's the same product and quality as before.

Please find below the new Anderol® logo and an example of the new packaging, for your reference. You will start to see this new packaging as the stock works through the system.

Should you have any questions please don't hesitate to get in touch.
